Editorial submissions

Hunter Business Review welcomes editorial submissions from our readers free of charge. If you would like to contribute an article that would be of interest to our readers, please contact HBR to discuss the appropriate format and time frames. The decision whether or not to include an article and the final format is subject to editorial control.

Business news

These articles cover topics from businesses such as new major contracts, new product launches, business expansions or change of ownership/name, and other general news of interest to our readers. Articles should be no more than 200 words and include an appropriate photograph if available.

Authored articles

Each issue includes authored articles either in the monthly feature or in the Business Advice section. Articles should be no more than 500 words plus a brief bio and head shot of the author. Stories should be general in nature on a topical issue of interest to our readers such as the introduction and implementation of new legislation or new technology. These articles should not be direct marketing pieces. Please discuss your ideas with HBR's editorial team before specifically writing an authored article.

Appointments

Our readers are always interested in significant new staff appointments in the region. We require around 50 words covering your new appointee's role and experience, plus a high resolution head shot of the new appointee.

Submitting stories:

Please email editorial submissions to editorial@HBRmag.com.au

The preferred format is Word for text and jpg for images. For further information, please contact Garry Hardie on (02) 4925 7760 or email editorial@HBRmag.com.au

Testimonials

"Love what Garry & the team have created with this magazine. No other publication that deals with SME's comes close to HBR. It has been an awesome tool for promoting our brand in the local community"

"Raine & Horne Commercial Newcastle has nothing but praise for the HBR Magazine. Newcastle and Hunter regions are significant contributors to the National and State economies and as such have a vibrant and diverse business community which is show cased through the publication of the HBR. The HBR magazine is a well styled magazine that is on point, easily mixing it with other coffee table publication in the receptions of the Newcastle and Hunter business houses."
